Heat Exhaustion vs. Heatstroke

Heat Exhaustion (HE) occurs when your body struggles to keep cool in a hot environment.

Signs can include:

- Nausea
- Mild confusion
- Vomiting
- Feeling lightheaded
- Dizziness
- Trouble walking straight

If it's suspected you have HE, you must be taken to a local medical facility for care during training. During operations, combat medics or a battalion aid station can provide the right care.

Exertional Heatstroke (EHS) is when your body temperature gets too high (usually over 104°F). Extreme body temps are serious. They can cause organ damage and even be life-threatening. The first sign of EHS is usually a change in your mental state.

Signs include:

- Seizures
- Confusion, trouble performing simple tasks
- Fatigue and weakness
- High core body temperature (often > 104°F)
- Combativeness
- Loss of consciousness, fainting

In honor of Military Appreciation Month, Camp Charlie's Morale, Welfare, and Recreation (MWR) seized the opportunity to organize a week-long celebration dedicated to military appreciation. The event featured various activities such as USO games, snack days, a luncheon to express gratitude to the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) and the Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFJROTC), and the generous provision of over 50 complimentary haircuts by Maverick Barber School.

This week was to demonstrate our sincere gratitude and acknowledgment of the service and sacrifices made by the service members serving as a part of TF-Eagle on the OLS. As we approach Memorial Day, let us pause to honor and remember those who made the ultimate sacrifice to safeguard the freedoms we cherish today.

Identifying and Preventing Heatstroke

Heatstroke often occurs when your body overheats during heavy work, training, or exercise in the heat.

KEY SIGNS & SYMPTOMS

- Confusion, trouble performing simple tasks
- Combativeness, irritability
- Slurred speech
- Nausea, vomiting
- Fatigue, weakness
- High body temperature (>104°F or higher)
- Lack of coordination, trouble walking (ataxia)
- Dizziness, seizures
- Loss of consciousness, fainting (syncope)

If you or a buddy experience any of these symptoms during moderate to hard exercise in the heat, assume it's heat stroke.

4 STEPS CAN SAVE A LIFE

- 1 Stop exercise.
- 2 Move Service Member into the shade.
- 3 Start cooling with ice sheets or cold water immersion.
- 4 Seek medical aid right away.

CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

NEWS UPDATE

This past week I was reminded of the story of the lady by the well in John Chapter 4. In this story Jesus has a set time and place to meet this woman who is coming to fill her water jug for the day. They have a good conversation and at the end he shares, he is the promised messiah. Over the years I have read this passage and found it very meaning full. However, this week I was stuck with the fact that in the story we find a woman at the well. However, the truth is that Christ has a place and time for all of us, he is waiting and ready to give us the living water only he can give.

My hope and prayer this week. Whatever you are facing in life and on this mission, you are not alone at the well, in the spiritual context as well while on this mission. You have leaders, friends, and battle buddies that care for you and are willing to support you, sometimes we just must be brave and strike up a conversation just like the women at the well.

On May 5, 1868, the Grand Army of the Republic (GAR), a politically powerful organization of Union veterans led by Major General John A. Logan — issued General Orders No. 11 or the "Memorial Day Act." This issuance formally established "Memorial Day" as a Decoration Day on which the nation would remember its war dead and decorate their graves with flowers. "decoration days." The practice of strewing flowers on graves has been documented from Classical Roman times to western Europe in the nineteenth century.
