FOR IMMEDIATE PUBLIC RELEASE:

Texas State Guard to Deliver Toys to Austin Area Hospital

AUSTIN, Texas (Dec. 17, 2014) – Dozens of uniformed members of the Texas State Guard (TXSG) will load thousands of toys for delivery to pediatric patients at an Austin area children's hospital, on Friday, Dec. 19, 2014, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Following the loading of the toys, volunteers with the TXSG will personally deliver collected toys to children at Dell Children's Medical Center of Central Texas in Austin. Although Dell Children's Medical Center is the only center being visited by members of the Guard on Friday, other toy distributions are being arranged across the state in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Lubbock.

In its sixth year, the toy distribution is part of the "Young Heroes of the Guard" toy roundup program designed to collect and deliver new toys to pediatric patients at every dedicated children's hospital in Texas during the holiday season. Additionally, the goal is to collect enough toys to leave behind an inventory of stuffed animals, games, dolls and more for the hospitals to give to patients throughout the following year.

This year the TXSG has raised more than 18,000 toys, making it the largest amount of donations in the program's five year history.

"Christmas is meant to be a joyous occasion and thanks to the generous donations of those across the state, we can bring a smile to the face of a child spending time away from home," said Maj. Gen. Gerald "Jake" Betty, Commanding General for the Texas State Guard. "As citizen-Soldiers we enjoy giving back to the local communities who support us on a continued basis and cannot think of a better way to give back during the holiday season.”

Since 2009, Texas State Guard volunteers have collected and distributed more than 21,000 toys to children across Texas who are spending the holiday season away from home.
